Fauntleroy Way SW Paving Project May – October 2009

May 15, 2009

Construction Starts Week of May 26-29

The Seattle Department of Transportation (SDOT) is making improvements to Fauntleroy Way SW. This project is part of the “Bridging the Gap” transportation levy approved by Seattle voters in November 2006.

Project Description

This project will reconstruct the worst portions of the roadway between SW Alaska and SW Holly Streets. The project also includes new curb ramps to improve accessibility, drainage improvements, new bike lanes and sharrows, and additional marked crosswalks.

Construction Phasing

The work will be completed in several phases:

- Phase one will start at SW Alaska St and Fauntleroy Way SW and work its way south to California Ave SW on the west side (southbound lanes).
- Phase two will start at California Ave SW and Fauntleroy Way SW and work its way north to SW Alaska St on the east side (northbound lanes).
- Phase three of the project will require the contractor to work on the center portion of the roadway beginning in the north from SW Alaska St to California Ave SW.
- Phase four between California Ave SW and SW Holly St will be done concurrent to other work and will be scheduled independently.

Each phase is expected to last approximately 6 weeks in duration.

Traffic Restrictions

During construction, traffic will be reduced to one lane in each direction between SW Edmunds and SW Morgan Streets. Parking will be prohibited on one side to accommodate the work zone. Crews will place “no-parking” signs in advance of their work and will remove them when parking can safely be restored.
