Hello!

My name is Syllas Kasten, and I am an undergraduate student at the University of Washington. I am currently conducting my Senior Capstone project through the Program on the Environment. Through my project, I seek to investigate improving low-impact environmental education accessibility for communities all around Seattle. To do this, I want to investigate how I could use tools such as Geocaching to provide equal opportunities for everyone of all ages and backgrounds to get involved. I'm interested in hearing from you!
